Probationary Period and Performance Evaluation

For every new employee there will be a performance review and evaluation after the first three months. If the review is unsatisfactory, an additional review will be made three months later. After this probationary period, if these evaluations by the Library Director are satisfactory, then the employee will be evaluated after the end of each calendar year. Any unsatisfactory evaluation will result in a three-month probation followed by one reevaluation. Two unsatisfactory evaluations in a calendar year are grounds for dismissal. Annual evaluations of all staff will be conducted by the Library Director.

The Library Director will be evaluated by the MCL Board of Trustees on an annual basis by the end of January on the activities of the prior year. The Board shall use the Director's self-evaluation, pre-determined goals, and monthly report as the basis of the Director's evaluation. The evaluation will rate the Director's performance results for each goal described in the survey. The individual responses shall be collected, and compiled to be presented to the full Board for discussion in an executive session where they will agree on the key messages and comments to be brought to the Director and presented by the Governance/Personnel Committee. This meeting will also serve to determine the goals and objectives for the next year.

Grievances

Dissatisfaction with alleged discrimination, unfair treatment, work schedules and assignments, library policies and procedures, or working conditions should be brought to the attention of the Director. Employees can raise concerns without fear of reprisal. Informal resolution of disputes is encouraged. However, if a matter is deemed important, the following steps may be taken.

1. The employee shall present the grievance in writing to the Director, who, after a discussion with the employee, shall attempt to resolve the matter and report the action to the employee. Written records shall be maintained in the personnel file. The grievance may go directly to the Governance/Personnel Committee if it involves malfeasance of the Library Director.

2. In the event that a grievance is not settled by the Library Director, the appeal must be presented in writing by the employee to the Governance/Personnel Committee. The Governance/Personnel Committee shall respond in writing to the employee.
3. An appeal from an unfavorable decision at the second step shall be presented by the employee to the President of the Board. The Board shall review the case and vote on a recommendation. The President shall issue the decision in writing, which shall be final and binding to the employee.

Disciplinary Action

The library's best interest lies in ensuring fair treatment of all employees and in making certain that disciplinary actions are prompt, uniform, and impartial. The major purpose of any such action is to correct the problem, prevent recurrence, and prepare the employee for satisfactory service in the future.

Disciplinary actions will be explained to and discussed with the employee at each step in the procedure stated below. All disciplinary actions will be documented via a Disciplinary Action Form, which will be placed in the employee's personnel file.

- a. Verbal Warning:
For most infractions, the employee will be warned verbally by the Director. If the situation is not corrected in the time frame specified, the Director will proceed to a written warning.
- b. Written Warning:
The employee will be warned verbally and in writing, and the written warning will be placed in the employee's personnel file. This written record notifies the employee that his/her performance or conduct is unacceptable and documents the specific acts or omissions upon which the discipline is based as well as the expected corrective action and time frame.
- c. Termination:
If the situation is not corrected in the time frame specified by the Director or if it is a third occurrence of the same offense, the Director will initiate termination procedures for the employee.

Immediate Termination

Immediate termination is possible in some cases. Some instances for dismissal may include but are not limited to:

- Physical or verbal abuse and/or sexual harassment of a library patron or employee
- Theft of or deliberate damage to library property or the property of a library patron or employee

- Excessive absences, tardiness, or early leaves

Resignation and Dismissal

A written notice of resignation by any non-professional support staff will be given to the Library Director or the President of the Board of Directors a minimum of fourteen (14) days before the intended resignation. A written notice of resignation by any professional staff will be given to the Library Director or the President of the Board of Directors a minimum of thirty (30) days before the intended resignation.

No policy or provision is intended to create a contract binding the employee or the Library to an agreement of employment for a specific period of time. An employee's employment can be terminated by either the employee or the Library at any time, for any reason, with or without notice. Prior to any termination for cause, the Board will conduct an investigation and interview all concerned parties.

Personnel Records

The Governance/Personnel Committee will keep all personnel records on file in the library. The records are strictly confidential. The employees have the right to request and to review their personnel file with 24-hr notice.

Library Assistants will work the number of hours per two-week period indicated in their job description and may be asked to work additional hours when other employees are sick or on vacation. Employees must not use their positions or the knowledge gained as a result of their positions for private or personal advantage nor should they acquire business interests or participate in entertainment, gifts, personal favors, or preferential treatment that would put them under obligation to another party with whom the library has business dealings. If employees know of or sense the potential for a conflict of interest, they should discuss the facts with their supervisor.

Library funds and all other assets of the library, such as computers, are for library purposes only and not for personal benefit.

Records and Communications

In particular, donor lists are not to be shared outside the library without Board approval. Employees should also be careful never to compromise the integrity or damage the reputation of the library. In dealing with all proper requests for information or complaints, employees should always respond promptly and courteously.
